Madam,

Sub: - Conducting off line examination for JE LICE - req.

Ref: - (1) BSNL letter no.7-2/2017-Rectt. (Pt.I) dated 10.11.2017.

(2) BSNL letter no.22-6/2014-Rectt. dated 31.10.2014.

(3) Our letter no.BSNLEU/539 (Exam.) dated 18.11.2014

BSNLEU, vide it's letter no.BSNLEU/528 (JE) dated 01.11.2017, has demanded that the JE LICE should be conducted as an off line examination. The Recruitment Branch of the BSNL Corporate Office, vide it's letter number cited under reference, has replied that the JE LICE could not be conducted as an off line examination. It is informed that, after selection as JEs, the officials are expected to work on computers, for which they are required to have working knowledge of computer.

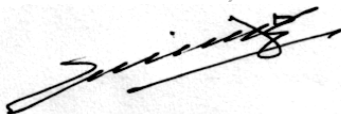

In this connection, we wish to state most of the officials appearing for the JE LICE are those belonging to the line staff category. If proper training is given, as a part of the JE induction training, certainly they will handle computers. But, it cannot be expected that they should possess such knowledge without giving such training.

Moreover, in para no.2 of the above cited letter, it is mentioned that Management has decided that all LDCEs for promotion from Executive level to Executive level, and all LDCEs for promotion from Non-Executive level to Executive level, are to be conducted through online examinations only. We wish to point out that the JE LDCE is not an exam from Non-Executive level to Executive level, but only from Non-Executive level to Non-Executive level.

In view of the foregoing, we once again insist upon you to kindly revisit this issue, and to take a favourable decision to hold the JE LICE as an off line exam.

Thanking you,

Yours sincerely

(P. Abhimanyu)
General Secretary
